POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

Glenn D. Willaman of Los Angeles, who digs into the political tombs of the past in search of portents of the future, has just come up with some pertinent and possibly significant data for those who are interested in the influence of geography on presidential elections.

In the 26 presidential elections held in the United States during the 100-year span from 1840 through 1940, reports Mr. Willaman, 17 of the winners came from three states—Ohio, New York and Illinois!

Ohio, champion of the presidential big league, has produced 7 winners in the White House World Series during the past century; New York, 6; Illinois, 4; and New Jersey, 2. California, Massachusets, Indiana, New Hampshire, Louisiana, Pennsylvania and Tennessee have each produced one.

Mr. Willaman, whose business is managing the California Real Estate association, but whose avocation is political history—past and current—has become something of an amateur authority on political batting averages and inclines to the theory that the presidential Babe Ruth or Joe DiMaggio of 1944 will most likely come from one of the three big league states.

With Roosevelt, Willkie and Dewey all claiming New York as their home state, and with Governor Bricker of Ohio, figuring as another presidential possibility, the odds appear fairly strong that Mr. Willaman's prophecy will prove correct. It might be pointed out, however, that California has only been admitted to the big league tier of states for a few years and may be expected to play an increasingly important part in the making of Presidents during the years ahead.

Just for the record, here are the winners in each of the presidential elections for the past 100 years, with the home state, political party and year of election of each:

1840 — Harrison, Whig, Ohio; 1844—Polk, D., Tenn.; 1848 — Taylor, Whig, La.; 1852—Pierce, D., N. H.; 1856—Buchanan, D., Penn.; 1860—Lincoln, R., Ill.; 1864—Lincoln, Union, Ill.; 1868—Grant, R., Ill.; 1872—Grant, R., Ill.; 1876—Hayes, R., Ohio; 1880 — Garfield, R., Ohio; 1884—Cleveland, D., N. Y.; 1888—Harrison, R., Ind.; 1892—Cleveland, D., N. Y.; 1896—McKinley, R., Ohio.

Jack Murdock Heads Chamber Of Commerce

Walsh, secretary-treasurer; and directors, Daniel W. Clark, Ira H. Grim, Dr. Walter I. Merrill, David W. Ribble and Walter R. Silberbauer. They will take office at the meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 13.

The matter of prime interest before the organization is the renewed effort to incorporate Campbell and so combine the several districts, fire and lighting, sewer, and also provide for a police service.

In planning for the circulation of petitions, a mass meeting to be addressed by an officer of the California League of Municipalities will be held.

Preliminary plans for the observance of Old Settlers' Day next Feb. 22, were discussed. One feature considered was a hobby show.

Schools Enroll 100 Per Cent In Junior Red Cross

The preliminary returns from the Junior Red Cross annual enrollment campaign just completed showed more than 40 schools of the county with 100 per cent enrollment, and Campbell Union Grammar school was one of the list.

THANKSGIVING

The man who lost his eyesight the other day when some fulminate of mercury exploded in a munitions plant will awaken one morning soon, and he will say to himself, "This is Thanksgiving."

Then after a long while, as he thinks of his life in his new world of total and absolute darkness, he will say: "Thank God I didn't lose my fingers or my legs or my ears or my mind. I can still do things that are useful. I can still hear beautiful music and inspiring or comforting words. I can still get up from my bed and walk about the earth and be a living part of it."

And a mother whose only son lies somewhere in the blackness of the Solomon seas will look once again at his picture on the dresser. And through her tears she will say, "Thank God I had the joy of you for nineteen years. Thank God I will have the fullness of your memory to enrich all the days of my life."

And a little cripple who is so piteous that people look the other way as he passes by will squirm and twist himself into his best clothes this Thanksgiving morning, and he will say to himself: "I will go to church, and I will listen to the organ and the choir, and I wil get some new thoughts that will help me to forget my pain. And thank God for that!"

But those of us who have lost nothing we cherish may not know exactly how to be thankful this Thanksgiving — unless we look around us. Let's be grateful that God is still in his Heaven; that we can see the stars on a clear night and walk in the sun on a warm day. Let's be grateful our Flag still flies over a free land. And let's be grateful in the thought that perhaps by the time another Thanksgiving Day rolls around our boys will be home again and peace will have come to our world.

GOOD NEIGHBOR MEXICO

In the most practical way possible, Mexico has shown herself to be a good neighbor to the United States. Her resources and manpower have been made available to this country, not only for service in Mexico against the common enemy, but for service here.

California in particular, has benefited much from Mexico's good neighbor policy. It has been due in part at least to the agricultural workers supplied by Mexico that California farmers have been able to contribute so much food to Allied victory.

All told 30,000 Mexican workers made the trek to California last season to help harvest the crops. And remembering the mistakes of the previous year, these workers were trained agricultural hands, able to work efficiently and to good purpose. Virtually all of them now have been repatriated to their homes below the border, carrying with them not only their savings, but new ideas of sanitation and health.

Next year, it is estimated that California's farmers will require 40,000 Mexican workers to assist with the crops. Fortunately, plans are being made in advance to insure increased efficiency in recruiting and distributing the labor. Equally important, reports from the south indicate that most of the Mexican workers went back to their native country as individual ambassadors of good will because of the fair treatment given them by California farmers. That augurs well for the future, and must prove more valuable to both countries in the long run than whole caravans of ingratiating visitors weaving across the borders bent on "good will" missions.

GETTYSBURG—1863

Eighty years ago—November 19, 1863 — on the chill fields of Gettysburg, a gaunt, gangling man addressed a crowd gathered to dedicate that bloody battlefield of the Civil War.

His speech was an anti-climax to the brilliant oratory of the great Edward Everett. Comparatively few people heard him in that radio-less day. But the ages were listening, for he spoke in the eloquence of eternity.

Down through the decades this utterance has echoed and re-echoed in ever-growing beauty, hope and phophecy. Yet Lincoln's own concept of the words spoken that day was strikingly unprophetic.

"The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here . . . "But the world did note and did remember, because it could not ignore and could not forget the soul-stirring, timeless phrases that fell from the lips of that sad-faced giant, stooped with the burden of his day.

Behind him lay the many long years of his own fight to preserve the Union and to abolish slavery. Before him lay the few brief months that yet remained to him to carry on that great cause.

Said he, in words which speak of our day as well as his own, "It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion . . . that the government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

NEW TROOP SHIPS

Troop ships of the present World War are far different from those of the first World War. Twenty-six years ago every old tub that could be pressed into service was used to transport troops. Today, ships are specially constructed for the purpose. Many of the old timers were cattle-boats—and smelled so bad that even the U-boats kept their distance. At least, that's the way veterans of World War I remember them.

The newest troop ships, according to information from the Navy Department, are floating cities—cities without windows. They have no portholes to be blacked out, but are well ventilated by air conditioning. Each hull contains everything an Army needs, from a mechanical cow to machinery for consuming garbage so that no trail is left for enemy submarines to follow.

Thus science, which has made warfare increasingly terrible, also has made some aspects of it more bearable. We understand, however, that nobody has yet devised a system to supplant the old custom of sleeping the battle-bound soldiers four bunks deep. But soldier boys of today are benefiting by other modern ideas of ship construction. Their strength is reserved for combatting the enemy, not worn down by the rigors of ocean crossings of unnecessary hardship and discomfort.

HOME CASUALTIES EXCEED WAR TOLL

Life in America is eight times more dangerous than service on the battlefields, according to Edward Davenport, coordinator of the National Safety council. Figures released by him show that eight deaths by accident have occurred on the home front for every American death on the battlefield.

Since Pearl Harbor, accidental deaths have totaled 161,000, of which 90,000 were industrial workers. Most of the deaths were due to negligence particularly on the part of workers newly introduced to heavy war industry.

In the early stages of the industrial conversion from peace to war, such negligence was understandable, if not excusable. There is less excuse now. Millions of workers have been at their war jobs long enough now to learn the fundamentals of safety. Unless this country is stupidly careless, the results of a far reaching safety educational program under the direction of the safety council should show up soon in greatly reduced accident figures.

TULELAKE TROUBLE

The Tulelake internment camp which has long been simmering with unrest finally boiled up and overflowed with the result that the War Relocation Authority was forced to call upon the Army to put down disorders and protect lives and property.

An Army search of the grounds uncovered two short-wave sending and receiving stations said to be powerful enough to reach Tokyo. A huge supply of weapons was also found. Demands were made that the Army be given permanent control of the camp. A Dies sub-committee is to start an investigation soon.

We have no desire to abuse the Jap internees, but there is no reason why we should let them abuse us.

Sylvia Sidney - Luther Adler

"Jane Eyre," stage version of Charlotte Bronte's well-known novel, now playing at the Geary Theatre in San Francisco, comes to the civic auditorium, San Jose, for a single performance on Sunday evening, Dec. 5.

Sylvia Sidney, noted star of stage and screen, plays the title role of the determinedly moral Jane, whose passionate love life shocked Victorians to such an extent that "Jane Eyre" had to be read surreptiously by refined ladies.

Luther Adler, whose triumph as the music loving prize fighter of "Golden Boy" is well remembered, plays a magnificent Rochester and a competent New York cast supports the two stars.

Tickets for "Jane Eyre" are on sale at the auditorium box office, Columbia 7087.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"A Tree Grows In Brooklyn" by Betty Smith.

"There's a tree that grows in Brooklyn. Sme people call it the Tree of Heaven. No matter where its seed falls, it makes a tree which struggles to reach the sky. It grows in boarded-up lots and out of neglected rubbish heaps. It grows up out of cellar gratings. It is the only tree that grows out of cement. It grows lushly . . . survives without sun, water, and seemingly without earth. It would be considered beautiful except that there are too many of it."

Francie Nolan could be compared to that tree. Poor little Francie—she just seemed to grow into a tree of solidarity in spite of loneliness, hunger and filth. Francie had a younger brother whom she practically reared, as her mother was forced to make the living for the family. Her father, a singing Irish waiter, loved to drink much more than he loved his family.

'Tis an age old plot—however it is a story of life—a true story. And it is dramatically, yet simply presented. Though Francie was born of lowly parentage, her desires for cultural things drove her on to books, and school and friends. But the story never wanders from the high tenement dwellings in the slums of Brooklyn. Francie lived all of her life in an upstairs apartment and her neighbors were those who complained of noise night and day.

Here is a story about a family—a family that suffered and rejoiced—that starved and feasted — that prayed and cursed—a family that did all of the natural obvious things that an American family does in these days and times.

Why is the book worth one's time to read, did someone ask? Because the book presents a story that is humanly interesting, expertly written, universally appealing. The Nolan family is like many a family each one of us has known in our life time. I cannot recall a story just like it. Though nothing new it is completely different.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon for Mrs. Julia Sharpless from the Rutherford Funeral Home, with interment in Oak Hill Memorial Park.

A native of Michigan where she was born 93 years ago, she moved to Campbell many years ago after the death of her husband, Frank Sharpless.

She leaves two sons, Earl and William Sharpless, and with other more distant relatives, a great niece, Mrs. Frank Coupland of Rincon avenue.

Buccaneers and Cats to Clash In "Big Game" at L.G. Friday

With the Fremont game thoroughly digested, all attention is focused on the annual "big game" with Los Gatos Friday an the Cat's gridiron. This is the game Campbell has been waiting for, and Coach Walter Hill's Bucs are all ready to send the Los Gatos Cats back to the hills for holding them down to a scoreless tie in their first encounter.

Los Gatos has won two games, beating Santa Clara and Mountain View and losing only to Fremont; so they won't be any push-over. Campbell will miss left half Neal Caruso, although Pete Ragus is doing well at that position.

Los Gatos has a very poor passing attack so probably most of the action of that team will feature ground plays.

If Los Gatos wins Friday and Fremont beats Santa Clara, which is almost a sure bet, Fremont and Los Gatos will be tied for first place in the League. If both of those teams lose, Campbell and Mountain View will be tied for first place. This possibility makes the game one of more than ordinary interest.

Score—Fremont 13 Buccaneers 6

Scoring early in the first quarter but unable to hold their lead, Campbell's Buccaneers were defeated last Friday by Fremont, 13 to 6.

After kicking off to Fremont, Coach Walt Hill's Bucs struck quickly as on the first Indian play Bob Magnuson, Campbell fullback, grabbed a Fremont pass, giving Campbell possession of the ball. The Bucs drove quickly down the field, the scoring play coming on a short pass from quarterback George Del Grande to right end Bill Wilson. The attempted conversion was blocked, and Campbell led 6 to 0. The Bucs held this lead all through the first half, with neither team coming within scoring range.

In the third quarter, however, Fremont began a strong running attack, pushing an outweighed Campbell team back through their own goal. After driving deep into Campbell territory, the Indians scored on an end run, with perfect blocking, cutting down the Campbell tacklers. The conversion was successful, giving Fremont a 7-6 lead.

Fremont scored again in the fourth quarter when their line surged through to block a Campbell punt. The Indians recovered, and after several running plays which the tired Campbell team was unable to stop, they again swept around end for a touchdown. The conversion was blocked, making the score Fremont 13, Campbell 6.

The game ended with the score unchanged, neither team having the stamina for another touchdown drive.

Outstanding Campbell players were Bill Wilson, right end who started on both offense and defense; George Del Grande, whose passing scored the only Campbell touchdown and picked up many important yards; Surby Guardino, who played an outstanding defensive game at right guard ,and Darvin Skaggs, captain for the day, who showed his usual excellent form on both offense and defense.

Starting line-up was as follows: Dardanelli, LE; Skaggs, LT; Malvini, LG; Howe, C; Courtney, RG; O'steen, RT; Wilson, RE; Del Grande, QB; Ragus, LH; Zimmer RH; Magnuson, FB.

Substitutes: Rice, Garcia, Guardino, Hall, Hill, Kennedy, McCulloch, Smith, Barbaccia.

Vacation Scheduled For Next Week

Thanksgiving vacation is here again, this year for one week, with school closing Friday. While the students are enjoying the holiday, teachers will attend institute, Monday in San Jose, Tuesday and Wednesday in San Francisco.

First quarter ends Friday.

Council Hears Suggestion For Yell Leader Blocks

That the student council is well on its way toward doing big things has been made known by reports of the second period representatives. Latest idea was brought up by Floyd Williamson, who suggested that block sweaters be given to the cheer leaders.

Larry Cowper reported that 177 rooters caps had been sold and he suggested that the caps be placed on sale at the Canteen. That is for the Canteen to decide, however.

Also, a motion was made and carried for the purchase of 750 envelopes for mailing Campus Echo to former Campbell students now in the service.

Ralph Noddin brought up a suggestion concerning garages or sheds being built to shelter both teacher's and student's cars. This suggestion rose out of one from Larry Cowper that bicycle sheds be built for the students.

Puppet Show Coming For Dec. 7 Assembly

Next assembly on the school program will be Dec. 7, when the student body will be entertained by a puppet show.

At a recent assembly the moving picture "Modest Miracle" was shown. As an added attraction Phyllis Palumbo sang "For Me and My Gal."

Bond Sales Total $585.10; 95.3%

Class Representatives Work Hard to Keep Percentage Up.

War bond and stamp selling is one of the activities provided by the government to give the student a chance to help win this war.

Campbell High student body has been doing very well in their efforts, according to Bill Page, council member in charge, but last week they slipped somewhere and only $585.10 worth of bonds and stamps were sold. This purchase was made by 95.3 per cent of the school.

Miss Elizabeth Thomas' class led, with a total of $219.40. Coach Walter Hill's class had $882.50. All other classes were below $50.

Although no mention has ever been given of the bond representatives, they are doing an excellent job, according to D. H. Cramer, faculty member in charge.

Those who handle classroom sales each week include Rex Jeffers, Eddie Bersano, Jo Traina, Ethel Bianucci, Ruth Barton, Al Pregliasco, Jocelyn Capp, Al Evans, Barbara Evans, Lenore Rogers, Mervyn Nelson, Bob Loveday, Lorraine Persico, Elwood De Vilbiss, Lawrence Groteguth, Barbara Jensen, Allen Walker, Dick Whalen, Jean Louise Baltz, and Phyllis Palumbo.

"Old Cow Barn" Theme of Jinx

Come December 2, the "Three Pistol Packin' Mammas" will ride again, this time at the annual girls' jinx.

This year's event brings old jeans and plaid shirts to order as the theme is to be "The Old Cow Barn."

Beatrice Hohman is in charge of the affair, and plans are advancing rapidly.

Speaker for the day when the League met Thursday was Miss Ruby Howes, physical education instructor and league adviser, who told of her trip to the Orient in 1937. Miss Howes called attention to the extent to which the Japanese were prepared for war, the Sino-Japanese war having begun at the time her ship docked at Yokohama. Blackout and air raid drill went on daily.

Changing her topic from Japan to China, Miss Howes gave a vivid description of the customs, practices and life of China and her people.

Red Cross Roll Call Is Successful

Reports from the Junior Red Cross Roll Call had not all come in at press time, but Mrs. Alfreda Runge, adviser, did give out the information that the school did not join 100 per cent. However, she pointed out that the amount and quality of service given is more important than number of members.

New posters bring out this idea with their motto, "Put your minds, your hearts, and your hands to work for others through the American Junior Red Cross."

AUTUMN IN CALIFORNIA

Dogwood flaunts her crimson banners,
Golden rod is turning brown;
Nature calling from the hill-tops
Luring folks away from town.

Squirrels a-chattering in the pine trees,
Gathering store 'gainst winter's need,
Quails a-piping, birds a-feasting,
Berries ripe and golden seed.

Colors riot in the woodland,
Crimson set in emerald green,
Every shade of brow7n and orange,
Catch the chinging light and sheen.

Tang of frost in sparkling mornings,
Warmth of golden autumn days,
Crystal clear upon the uplands,
O'er the valley, lilac haze.

Breeze a-murmuring in the tree tops,
Purl of tiny broks and rills,
God was smiling when he made them,
Georgeous California Hills!

If electricity flowing to war-busy California communities and military establishments could be seen and heard, the air over California would be awhir with the rush of winged horsepower reporting for duty.

War has brought a heavy demand for electricity. In a thousand and one jobs, electric horsepower is aiding in the victorious achievements in war production to beat the conquered and enslaved labor of Germany and Japan. In amount, this company is supplying power for war work equal to that needed to serve a city of 1,500,000 persons.

Meeting this war demand for electricity has taken planning ahead in engineering and purchasing and building. But what counts NOW are the men who have stayed loyally on the job of delivering this electricity. They are the power plant operators, the lake tenders, the linemen and the repairmen. They are our experienced old timers—2300 of our younger employees have gone to war.

From such a coordination of technical "know how" comes the effective delivery of electricity to military camps and war industries in dependable, unfailing supply.

Gas and Electricity are Vital in War Production —do not waste them!
